

Please let Wisconsin's no-call list stand. I have been plagued every night during 6-10pm with "buy this", and "donate to our charity for the under...". I even have been pestered with calls from agencies that I stopped doing business with, trying to enlarge my participation (more magazines). Please let me enjoy my quiet sanctuary within my home without this intruding hassle that the Wisconsin no-call list has provided me. If you let anyone contact me just because I had done business with them in the past, or their affiliates, that then becomes equivalent to one walking down the sidewalk and a business or affiliate, interrupting you and trying to solicit your business. Please take my side for once, and not the side of the intruders.
